Stearns High School
Millinocket, Maine

A Time To Honor

A LIFE DEDICATED TO YOUTH AND ITS DEVELOPMENT

WILLIAM W. HALE, Superintendent

Words came hard when we tried to describe the great career of Mr. Hale. In his full and fruitful years as superintendent of the area's schools, he has dedicated himself to excellence in education. Under the leadership of Mr. Hale, Millinocket's schools have constantly improved to meet the increasing demands of a fast moving world.

Now that he has earned a time for rest and relaxation, we wish Mr. Hale many happy hours with his grandchildren and plenty of time for golf.

Chaperoning a Prom

MR. HALE AND SECRETARIES
MRS. CHENEY AND MRS. ST. PETER

A FAREWELL FROM MR. HALE

It is with mixed feelings that I say farewell to my students, teachers, secretaries, administrators, janitors, and other colleagues with whom I have worked over the past twenty-five years. I feel very grateful for having had the opportunity to serve in this most excellent school system and for the rich experiences that I have shared. I do not want to appear didactic, nor to moralize, but I should like to leave something of a basic nature that you should at an early age begin to build into your lives and that will influence your character and reputation for your entire lives. That is the characteristic of Loyalty. There are innumerable applications of this trait in the many facets of your lives, but I should like to mention only a few.

The first loyalty is to your faith. If you do not have a strong belief in God, associate yourself with people who do; and see what a strong influence it will be in your life. In these times of trouble when people are marching for or against some cause in the street, in the capital of our nation, and on the campuses, and we are fighting a shooting war, we need to someway stabilize our faith and our beliefs to give purpose and meaning to our lives.

A second loyalty would be to your calling. Whether it be to further education, or in the service, or directly to jobs, or family life, you will be well on your way to a happy life if you are loyal to those with whom you work.

Thirdly, I would exhort you to be loyal to your country. When I see on TV or read of young men who are crossing our borders to avoid the draft, I believe they are failing in their responsibility of giving as well as receiving the benefits of a free and democratic country. I thrill when I hear "The Star-Spangled Banner" or "America the Beautiful." There is so much we enjoy because of our way of life, that we must be willing to make sacrifices to help perpetuate our institutions for ourselves and those who will follow.

Finally, be loyal to your school. You are enjoying the privilege of an education that is second to none. Help support your school and improve conditions when you feel it necessary, and make changes as times demand to maintain its high degree of excellency.

Goodbye to all of you. You will be in my heart and mind as long as I live.

Administration

N. ALLEN SAVAGE, PRINCIPAL
B.S., M.A. University of Maine

MRS. JANET WRIGHT
Secretary to the Principal

Just as there is a time for study and for fun, so must there be a time for help and for wise advice. At any hour of the school day, the principal's office and the guidance office are open to all. All school activities, classroom and extracurricular, are largely dependent on the organization and the stabilizing influence of the office. The whole student body owes a great deal to our dedicated administration.

Business

LaROY DERBY, Submaster
Department Head

B.S., M.Ed., University of Maine
Husson College

Today is a time of economics, a time of business. Offering the necessary training, our Business Department prepares its students for fruitful vocations.

Designed for both stenographic and general business training, this is the largest department in the school.

The regular business students aren't the only ones who benefit from this course. College-bound students are encouraged to take a year of typing; and general students may take business law, general business, and consumer education courses.

Always is the time for English. Our English Department has grown and improved steadily in the past few years. With the addition of new faculty members, this department is geared to meet the needs of the individual. There are courses for liberal arts students, business students, and industrial arts students.

By specializing, the department offers each student the important English element of his education in the way that will be most beneficial to him as an individual.

MISS BONNIE HELMS
B.A., Eastern Baptist College

DAVID BERQUIST

Foreign Languages

MISS ROSEMARY RILEY, Department Head
A.B., St. Joseph's College
M.Ed., University of Maine
Diplome d'Etudes, La Sorbonne

MISS MARCIA BOUTELLE
B.A., Universitv of Maine

Due to the fine quality of the Foreign Languages Department at Stearns, any apt student can ask, "What time is it?" in three different languages. What other courses give their participants more of an inspiration to tour other lands? Though Latin is dead in Italy, it is very much alive at Stearns, with Miss Riley as its teacher. She also offers three years of French to all aspiring Napoleons. And Spanish without Miss Boutelle would be like Spain without her bull fights--extremely dull!

Home Economics

MISS RENA ALLEN, Department Head
B.S., University of Maine
M.S., University of Maine

MISS ANNA ZIKO
B.S., Farmington
State Teachers
College

Of the many stages in a boy's life, one of the most enjoyable is "the time to be courtin' a girl of his own." Miss Rena Allen and Miss Anna Ziko are two of the best assurances that the boys will find in our school some of the most attractive and capable gals to court.

Girls enroll in courses in sewing, cooking, and the social graces, preparing for their lives as wives and mothers.

Home Economics also accounts for all the stylish females walking the halls of Stearns.

Actually, everyone benefits--including the boys!

Industrial Arts

The Vocational Trade and Industry Courses offered are Carpenter and Machine Shop. Related subjects of industrial materials, shop science, mechanical drawing, and shop math are included to better qualify a student in his craft or trade.

Designed to cover those areas of theory, creative thinking, appreciation of accuracy, pride in accomplishment, and a measure of skill through experience needed to meet the requirements of useful employment, work situations are created closely resembling those found in industry. These provide an atmosphere similar to that in which the student will find himself upon entering employment.

Math Department

MISS ELIZABETH GRIFFIN
Department Head

B.S., University of Maine

Time is experience for both Miss Griffen and Mrs. Byther, who offer invaluable courses in all phases of high school math. Students with college intentions receive a knowledge of algebra and advanced mathematics--a knowledge of vital importance if one intends to keep pace with the fast-moving space age of today!

MRS. HELEN BYTHER
B.A., Bates College

Music Department

WENDALL TOMPKINS, Department Head
B. S., Bob Jones University

Music is one category where time is of the essence. And though juke boxes everywhere scream out unintelligible lyrics, Stearns' Music Department has somehow managed to sift out the best songs and present them to the student body at football and basketball games, rallies, and concerts. The band, under the direction of Mr. Wendall Tompkins, has picked up in both membership and quality this year. The chorus, led by Mrs. Findlen, and the stage band, under the direction of Mr. Tufts, have been great supplements to the Stearns High curriculum.

MRS. BRENDA FINDLEN
B. S., University of Maine

JOSEPH TUFTS
Northern Conservatory of Music
B. S., University of Maine

Physical Education

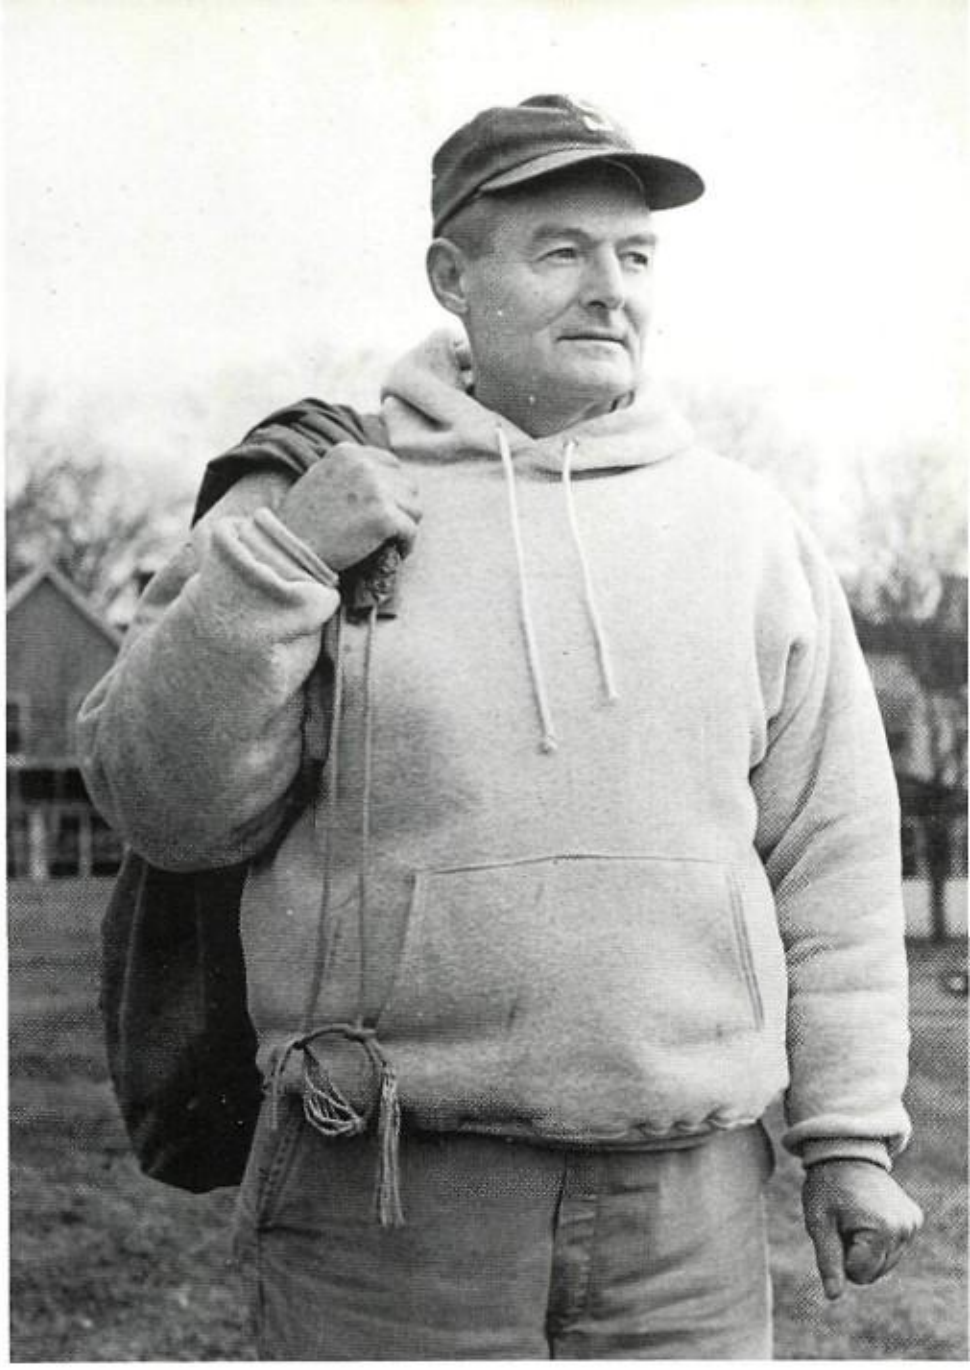
Physical education, the basis for sports, is for all seasons. From exercises to cage-ball, gym classes are designed to turn out Tarzans and Janes, and to rebuild Baby Hueys and Little Lottas.

We at Stearns salute you, Mrs. Blake and Mr. Wentworth. Your ambition and ability are evident.



GEORGE WENTWORTH, Department Head
B. S., University of Notre Dame

MRS. HELEN BLAKE
B. S., Boston University

Reading

Time passes quickly for those who enjoy reading. The reading course at Stearns aids all students in reading faster and with more comprehension. Mrs. Kronholm capably instructs her pupils in building a skill that will enable them to use their reading hours profitably and pleasantly.

MRS. HARRIET KRONHOLM
B.S., University of Maine
M.Ed., University of Maine

Speech

There comes a time in life when one must learn to speak effectively or be silent. Learning to convey one's thoughts clearly is an asset acquired under the guidance of our speech instructor, Miss Higgins.

MISS JOYCE HIGGINS
B.A., University of Maine

Special Classes

The trademark of a Stearns class is meeting the needs of the individual. Mr. Hudson gives this special attention to each of his students, allowing each to develop his own talents.

MILES HUDSON
B.S., Farmington State
Teachers College

Science Department

With each successive season there emerge new wonders of nature and fresh discoveries in science. Molecular studies, laboratory experiments, dissections, and field trips fill the agenda for chemistry, biology, physics, and Junior-Senior science. Under the direction of Mr. Arnold Hopkins, and with the assistance of Mr. David Trainor, the Stearns science program lays a workable foundation of facts for future doctors, nurses, chemists, and physicists.

ARNOLD HOPKINS, Department Head
B.A., University of Maine

DAVID TRAINOR
B.A., Ricker College

Social Studies

Times are changing fast, and the Stearns Social Studies Department gives us valuable insight into our changing world. The students of today will be the world leaders of the future, so an in-depth study of critical American problems is necessary for their preparation.

Unfortunately, this year was marred by the illness of Mr. Delahanty. Mrs. McCourt has done a wonderful job substituting, but it's nice to have Mr. Delahanty back for even part of the day.

WALLACE DELAHANTY, Department Head

CARLA McCOURT

Librarian

Everyone has time to visit the library--if he can get a pass to escape from a study hall.

Seriously, we have a fine library equipped to meet the needs of students faced with book reports, research papers, and dateless evenings.

MRS. VIRGINIA DERBY
B.A., University of Maine

Nurse

As her picture shows, Mrs. Hall's duties aren't just checking eyes, ears, and childhood diseases. There are charts, records, records, and more records to be kept up to date.

MRS. FRANCES HALL

A Time to say "Goodbye."

Bert Landry is not just an employee at Stearns. He is a personality. Whether he is playing the town crier telling classes to change, fixing the clocks, or stealing the scene in a Thespian production, Bert always has an infectious grin that gives us all a lift.

Years of faithful, proud service have made Bert a most respected figure, and all of us at Stearns will miss him.

As a parting gift, Bert, we give all our best wishes for under-par golf scores and a thousand grand slams in bridge.

Custodians

That Stearns High School is one of the best-kept schools in the state has become an accepted fact. The credit for this goes to our fine custodial staff. Besides keeping the school clean, these men are always will to help with any special problems that arise.

John Evers, Harold Jackson, Nobert Landry, Arthur Allen (Weldon Astle and Eben Gulliver not available for pictures)

The Senior Class offered an excellent interpretation of a suspenseful melodrama set in Victorian England. Bob and Nancy, playing the sophisticate and his scheming sister, provided the catalyst to bring the plot of mystery and romance to a chilling climax. The conflict was heightened by the contrast between the prim governess, Joanne, and her dramatic rival, Sheila. Kathy, as an emotionally disturbed young girl searching for the missing Alice, added an aura of the supernatural. The play was given added authenticity by the portrayals of Linda and Debbie as housekeeper and maid.

Acting awards were given to Scott, the master of Mellyn, and to Joyce, his spoiled sister-in-law.

"Time, time, time--look what you've done to me," quoth the Stearns football team at the climax of a disappointing season.

But though our team wasn't flush with too many victories, the school spirit floated along in the bus as the team traveled from Millinocket to each opposing school in the Little Ten Conference. Coach McCourt, with assistants Mr. Tucker and Mr. Trainor, kept the team spirit high, while strains of "We're rough, we're tough, we've really got the stuff" echoed through the cheering stands.

Captains Tim Trainor and John Hale led the other team members through trying games; and in spite of all the hard knocks, the entire team came through the season with a firm determination to win when fall rolls 'round next year.

The band blares, the fans cheer, and the Minutemen run onto the floor for another bellicose clash. After numerous practices and much eager anticipation, the team and the community are ready fo fight and defend their reputation. Wins and losses together make the season exciting, and this 66-67 season has been that, indeed. At Bangor, the Minutemen faced one of the most exciting tournaments in recent years; and they went down only after they had done a commendable job.

Teams change and fans change, but basketball will always be the same--forever frenzied and entertaining.

With the advent of spring, baseball mitts appear, like daffodils and spring fever, almost before the snow leaves the ground.

The '66 baseball team had, as usual, a fine season, taking second place in the Northern Penobscot League. Coach Wentworth may well be proud of his baseball teams' records.

Music is one category where time is of the essence. And though juke boxes everywhere scream out unintelligible lyrics, Stearns' Music Department has somehow managed to sift out the best songs and present them to the student body at football and basketball games, rallies, and concerts.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Wendell Tompkins, has picked up in both membership and quality this year.

The chorus, led by Mrs. Brenda Findlen, and the stage band, led by Mr. Joseph Tufts, have been great supplements to the Stearns High curriculum.

Is your future set?

If you can answer "yes" to that, don't read any further. But if you're still planning your future, give the Army a thought. In the Army, you can get the training and experience that will really set you up for the good jobs of the future. And you'll be paid while you learn.

The Army gives you over 300 specialties to choose from. And if you qualify, your choice is guaranteed before you sign up. You're also sure of the best possible training. The Army's work is too important for anything less.

Come around and we'll talk about it. Let's see if we can help you nail down the future you want. Or, if you'd like to read up on it before you talk, drop by and pick up the booklet, The Secret of Getting Ahead. Either way, there's no obligation, no arm-twisting.

You can even phone
